

Matt Hunt is an experienced facilitator, strategist, and consultant with a national reach and reputation who has helped large and small organizations get results through aligned leadership, clear goals, and collaborative teamwork.

He began his training and organizational development career with SSM Health, learning the value of team alignment and integration with the first healthcare system to win a Malcolm Baldrige National Quality Award.

Matt has spent time in various industries, including manufacturing, telecommunications, software development, marketing, and advertising, with the last 20 years in architecture, engineering, and construction.

Most recently, as the VP of Organizational Development for McCarthy Holdings, Inc., the oldest privately held construction company in America, Matt had the opportunity to facilitate two successful 5-year strategic plans through development and execution, conduct over 300 teaming and partnering sessions, build out a highly sought after team of internal consultants, all while helping to lead impactful cultural shifts in client focus, employee engagement, manager effectiveness, and leadership development.

In May of 2023, Matt decided to pursue a long-time personal goal by starting his own consulting practice dedicated to helping teams of all types and levels maximize leadership, strategy, and collaboration to achieve transformative success.

He is also an active supporter and current board member of FamilyForward, an innovative non-profit delivering comprehensive therapeutic and educational services to children and families with a deep commitment to evolving our understanding and treatment of childhood trauma.

Matt has a Bachelor of Science in Communication from Missouri State University and a Graduate Certificate in Human Performance Improvement from the University of Missouri St. Louis and ASTD.

He lives in Creve Coeur, Missouri, with his wife, Tina. In his free time, he enjoys making delicious soups for family and friends; and after getting a late start in music, is always trying hard to improve his jazz and blues skills on the bass guitar.
